

Sacco Demonstrations Fewer Than Anticipated

Execution of Two Men Received Quietly by Large Crowds Waiting for News in American Cities—Most Serious Outbreak Took Place in Geneva, Switzerland—American Buildings Abroad and All Large American Cities Heavily Guarded.

The execution of Sacco and Vanzetti at the Charlestown State Prison Monday evening did not cause as many disorderly outbreaks upon the part of radicals throughout the world as had been anticipated. The most serious disturbance occurred in Geneva where one man was killed in the rioting and the League of Nations palace badly damaged.

Heavy guards were maintained in the vicinity of all official American buildings in practically all of the European and South American countries. In this country the police made elaborate preparations in all of the large cities to guard against outbreaks.

One Killed in Geneva. Geneva, Aug. 23 (AP).—As a precautionary measure against the possible renewal of Sacco-Vanzetti riots, which cost the life of one man and considerable property damage here last night, a regiment of militia to receive orders to be ready for service at a moment's notice.

The regiment forms part of the Swiss Federal Army and the troops made available are in addition to the civic guard which also has been mobilized.

Extensive Damage to Palace. The damage to the League of Nations palace today proved to be more extensive than at first had been estimated. Windows in the library as well as in other halls being destroyed by the mob which sought to invade the building. Windows of shops and agencies having American flags were smashed and American automobiles were damaged.

Special arrangements to protect the League of Nations building tonight were made during the day. Demonstrations in Foreign Cities.

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—Demonstrations in behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti were staged before and after the execution in various European and South American cities.

As soon as news was posted that the two men had been electrocuted, a crowd in front of a newspaper office in Buenos Aires, Argentina, began stoning United States consular buildings. Only with the aid of reinforcements were the police able to quell the demonstration.

Radicals March in London. To the strains of the "Red Flag" and shouts of "Sacco and Vanzetti Must Die," a procession marched into the Mall in London at an early hour this morning. This is the first thoroughfare in front of Buckingham and as the marchers passed the palace, mounted police scattered them, arresting a number.

Throughout the night a strong guard was kept about the American Embassy in London and mounted police and guards were in readiness in neighboring yards and enclosures. The American Embassies in Paris and Rome likewise were heavily guarded.

Rain Keeps Paris Quiet. Paris had several demonstrations, but a steady rain kept them within reasonable bounds. Seventy members of the Communist party went to the American Embassy in an effort to plead with Sheldon Whitehouse, the American charge affairs. He consented to receive a few of them and they presented a resolution urging that a final appeal for pardon be sent to Washington.

Police Suppress German Radicals. Communists in Berlin and other German cities attempted to stage demonstrations, but they were promptly suppressed by the police. Some disturbances took place at Stockholm and Gothenburg, Sweden. At the latter place the police had to charge the crowd when it tried to reach the American consulate.

Strike in Argentina. There was stoppage of work throughout Argentina yesterday as a mark of sympathy with the condemned men. In Buenos Aires a number of prisoners abstained from food. No taxicabs operated in the capital and only a few busses were in the streets. The most serious of a number of disorders was the turning of a street car in a suburb of Buenos Aires.

Americans Receive News Quietly. Announcement of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti was received quietly by crowds that gathered in public squares and before newspaper bulletin boards in many cities after a day of unceasing police vigilance and general uneasiness.

At midnight in Union Square, New York, where police estimated 2,000 persons had gathered, placards reading "Sacco Murdered," "Vanzetti Murdered," were posted.

Sacco-Vanzetti Protest Innocence Just Before Death

Men Die Calmly Following a Seven Year Fight to Save Them From The Electric Chair—Vanzetti Wished to Forgive Some People—Bodies Are Turned Over To Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee.

Boston, Aug. 23 (AP).—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti have paid with their lives for the murder of which they were convicted six years ago. They died calmly shortly after midnight in the electric chair at the Charlestown State Prison, protesting their innocence of the crime, affirming their belief in anarchy and refusing the benefits of religion.

In his native tongue, Sacco shouted: "Long live anarchy," as he seated himself in the death chair. "I am an innocent man," were among the last words of Vanzetti.

Celestino Maderios, sentenced for the murder of a Wrentham bank cashier, preceded to the chair by a few minutes the two men whom he had attempted to save by a confession that he was present at the crime of which they were convicted and that neither Sacco nor Vanzetti was there. This confession was used as the basis for a motion for a new trial but was discredited.

Work Hard For Respite. Up to the hour set for the execution and even later, the seven-year legal struggle to save the lives of Sacco and Vanzetti had continued. When every court and legal recourse had been exhausted, defense attorneys still strove to find new means of gaining a respite for the condemned men. Four attorneys hastening by automobile to Williamstown to lay an appeal for stay before a justice of the U. S. Circuit Court, turned back only when they heard by telephone that Maderios and Sacco already had been executed and that the fate of Vanzetti was a matter of minutes.

Maderios Shows No Emotion. From his cell in the death house Maderios, the first of the three to be called, walked the few feet to the chair in the execution chamber without show of emotion. He walked steadily and seemed indifferent to his fate. He entered the chamber two minutes, forty-seven seconds after midnight and at nine minutes thirty-seven seconds past the hour, he was dead. He spoke no word and gave no sign of recognition of any of the witnesses.

"Long Live Anarchy." In a few moments the second death house cell was emptied and Sacco walked to the execution room. Pale but apparently strong and vigorous, and quite alert and collected, he stepped to the chair and as he sat down, shouted in a ringing voice "Viva L'Anarchia."

While the straps were being adjusted, he spoke in English in a moderate tone, "Farewell, my wife and child and all my friends. After a pause, he looked around at his silent witnesses of the state and said, "Good evening, gentlemen. His final words, spoken as the head strap was tightened, were "Farewell, mother." He had entered the chamber at 12:11:12 and was pronounced dead at 12:19:02.

"I Am Innocent." Once more two guards left the chamber and returned with Vanzetti. He was the most collected of the three and seemed quite at ease as he entered. He shook hands just inside the door with a guard whom he recognized and then grasped the hands of others as he walked to the chair. Without a quiver he took his place and then in a formal way, said, "I wish to tell you I am innocent and never committed any crime, but sometimes some sin. I thank you, Mr. Warden, for everything you have done for me. I am innocent of all crime, not only of this one, but all. I am an innocent man."

Vanzetti had been convicted after the Braintree murder of a robbery, while armed, committed in Bridge-water a short time before.

Forgives Some People. As the final straps, those which held the head in place, were being adjusted, he gave a final message of forgiveness. "I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing to me," he said simply. He had entered at 12:20:38 and was pronounced dead at 12:26:55.

Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for the murder of a paymaster, whose guard was also killed in a shoe factory payroll robbery in South Braintree.

Nelting Jailed For Thirty Days

Young Man Who Indicted a Broken Nose and Black Eye on His Wife Pleaded Guilty in Police Court—Fined $25 and Sentenced to Jail.

"I plead guilty," said George Nelting of Gill street, when his case was called in police court this morning. He had been arrested several days ago on a warrant obtained by his wife, who charged him with assault in the third degree.

As Judge Shufeldt was away on his vacation at the time of the arrest he was not acquainted with the facts and for that reason called Mrs. Nelting up to the desk and asked her what there was about it.

According to her story, the assault occurred on a Sunday evening. She had been at the beach that afternoon and when she returned home found her husband eating his supper at his mother's. As she said she did not want to eat alone, she had gone to her mother's for supper.

Her husband returned to the house about half an hour after she got back and asked her why she did not have supper ready. She said she would get it and was starting to do so when, according to her story, her husband struck her in the face with his fist, knocking her down, and then left the house.

She had gone to a physician the next day and found that in addition to the badly decorated eye she had sustained a broken nose.

"What do you want me to do with your husband?" asked the court. "Give him the limit," she replied. Judge Shufeldt sentenced Nelting on his plea of guilty to thirty days in the county jail and in addition fined him $25.

The Neltings have been married about eleven months.

Mr. Coolidge Will Visit Old Faithful

President and Party Will Visit Famous Geyser Today on Their Tour of the Yellowstone National Park—Will Visit Many Points of Interest.

Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., Aug. 23 (AP).—Old Faithful Geyser, well-known to thousands of America's tourists, was the goal of President Coolidge as he moved forward today on his tour of Yellowstone National Park.

The President's party is expected to spend tonight at Old Faithful Inn near the famous geyser that spurts upwards at intervals of one hour. It is not certain where the President and Mrs. Coolidge with their son, John, will go in the park or how long they will stay but the formal itinerary includes many of the important sights of interest.

Arriving in the Yellowstone shortly after noon yesterday, the President's party left the train at Gardiner, Montana, and drove five miles to Mammoth where they spent the night.

He Lit a Match, Two Were Burned

About 8 o'clock Monday evening Joseph Motrie of No. 95 Hasbrouck avenue drove his car up to the Eagle Garage to have the gasoline tank filled. While the tank was being filled he remained seated in the driver's seat while alongside of him sat Miss Buddington. Motrie reached into his pocket, produced a match and struck it. The vapor from the gasoline was ignited and the flames communicated to the gas tank on the car. As a result Motrie was burned about the hands and face while Miss Buddington sustained burns on her face, hands and leg. Her clothing was scorched and her hair singed. A still alarm of fire was turned in to Wiltwyck engine house which responded and extinguished the flames with chemicals.

"Long Live Anarchy." In a few moments the second death house cell was emptied and Sacco walked to the execution room. Pale but apparently strong and vigorous, and quite alert and collected, he stepped to the chair and as he sat down, shouted in a ringing voice "Viva L'Anarchia."

Learn 2 Lessons From Honolulu Flight Tragedies

Flight Committee Declares That in Future All Planes Should Have Adequate Tests and That Land Planes Should Be Prohibited from Making Long Over-Water Flights—Forty Vessels Fail to Locate Missing Planes or Pilots.

San Francisco, Aug. 23 (AP).—While the search for the lost fliers in the Dole race from the Golden Gate to Honolulu continued with unflagging zeal, though dying hope, efforts to derive profits from the flight's lessons were under way today, one week after the start of the 2,400-mile air marathon.

As forty naval vessels and a fleet of observation planes fruitlessly searched the greedy Pacific's waves for the six men and the girl who made up the crews of the Golden Eagle, Miss Doran, and the Dallas Spirit, Lieut. Benjamin Wyatt of the Navy Air Corps, who inspected the planes and their compasses for the flight, committee, declared that two indisputable lessons had been learned from the flight's disasters.

First—all planes to undertake an extended over-water flight should have a thoroughly adequate test under full load.

Second—land planes should be prohibited from making extended over-water flights.

Pilot Arthur C. Goebel and his navigator, Lieut. W. V. Davis, whose monoplane, Volare, won the $25,000 first prize in the Dole race, issued a joint statement at Honolulu agreeing with Wyatt's second contention. They predicted the Dole flight would cause development of a large amphibian monoplane, tri-motored and capable of taking off from water even under unfavorable sea conditions.

Goebel and Davis likewise forecast improvement of the radio beacon and other radio sending and receiving equipment for aircraft as a result of the Dole flight. They also expected development of floating landing stages at sea, where over-water aviators may land during long flights.

Lieut. Wyatt declared no one could be blamed for the disasters in the Dole flight, that the inspections were as rigid and as thorough as it was possible to make them. He said the Department of Commerce was suddenly confronted with a duty that had not been contemplated in testing so many planes for the race.

City Authorities Will Have City Hall Rebuilt

Aldermen Mann, Haines and Everett Appointed Committee of Three to Work in Cooperation With Mayor Dempsey in Planning Restoration—City Hall Board Submits Report Favoring New Building.

The common council Monday evening voted unanimously in favor of the restoration of the city hall and Aldermen Mann, Haines and Everett were appointed a committee of three to cooperate with Mayor E. J. Dempsey in restoration plans. This action was taken following the reading of the report of the city hall commission recommending that a new building be erected at an approximate cost of $300,000. All of the aldermen were present with the exception of Alderman Clare, who had been excused.

The Commission's Report. The report of the commission in full follows: The undersigned appointed a commission for the purpose of considering the advisability of recommending a plan for the restoration of the city hall building; hereby report in part as follows: After several meetings and visits to the building together with tentative sketches, we have considered it inadvisable to recommend the restoration of the present building for the following reasons: The building was planned to meet the needs of our city government some fifty odd years ago and there would be many limitations in the rearranging of offices to adequately meet the present requirements of our city government. Further, any plan involving considerable change in the outer or inner main structural walls would add prohibitive cost. The architectural design of the building is foreign to our state and city, and would not lend itself economically to a change of style. It is our opinion that if restoration was considered, the building should be put back complete in its original condition including the tower. Such a restoration to the exterior with minor alterations and reconditioning of the interior would, in our opinion, involve an expenditure of approximately $140,000. Further, to make these alterations in a fireproof manner, as would be most desirable, would add another $50,000. Therefore, it is our judgment that it does not seem advisable to recommend the spending of this additional sum on an obsolete building already partly destroyed by fire, whose style of architecture is entirely foreign to our state and city and not in harmony with other civic buildings, when such a cost of reconstruction would approximate two-thirds of the expenditure required for a new fireproof building. A new building will afford the most efficient arrangements in plan of offices to meet the present day needs of our city government and provide for expansion in the years to come. It also provides the opportunity to design a building in a style fitting its purpose and truly expressing the spirit of our Colonial city at a cost of approximately $200,000.

The report of the commission is a frank statement of the consensus of opinion of the different members. However, the architects of the commission are ready to prepare plans of an alteration to the building if they are so authorized.

Dated, August 16, 1927. (Signed) MYRON S. TELLER, GEORGE E. LOVE, GERARD W. BETZ, F. J. R. CLARKE.

Mayor Dempsey Explains. Mayor E. J. Dempsey said that when the city hall commission had been appointed nothing had been said to them in regard to the financial condition of the city and they had been asked to submit their recommendation of what should be done. The commission had held a number of meetings and devoted considerable time to the matter. However, Mayor Dempsey did not believe that considering the present financial condition of the city that it would be wise to erect a new building, but he favored the restoration of the present building.

Mayor Dempsey said that the present bonded indebtedness amounted to $1,143,000 of which amount $725,000 was in water bonds. The mayor said that the total assessed valuation of the city is $22,632,837, and total bond limit of the city was $2,203,000.

What Aldermen Thought. Alderman O'Reilly said that if it was to be the policy to tear down old buildings like the city hall because they did not conform with present day architecture, he supposed they would want to tear down other old buildings and should start in with the Senate House and then proceed to the court house and the other houses in the city that were old. He said that the city hall was good enough and should be restored.

Alderman DeGarmo of the First ward said he had talked with a number of taxpayers in his ward and all favored restoration. "The present

Mexican Smokes 100 Cigarettes Every Day

Kingston, N. C.—Thomas Alvarez, a Texan of Mexican parentage, smokes 100 cigarettes a day. His tobacco bill, since he has taken to smoking ready-made fags, runs from $1 to $1.50 a day. Now he will return to the makings and cut down the cost.

Alvarez, who came east on a vessel from Galveston, a short time ago, has been looking for a job in this section. He is thirty years old and has smoked since he was a small boy. The habit has not grown on him since he reached the age of twenty-one.

"I have always smoked 100, more or less," he says. "I had no idea I was using so many until I quit the loose tobacco and rice papers for ready-mades. I buy eight to ten small packs a day now, twelve to the box."

$500 REWARD OFFERED FOR PICTURE OF SEA SERPENT

Monster With Sheep's Head Often Seen in Okanogan Lake, British Columbia.

Okanogan, Wash.—With a standing offer of $500 for a snapshot of the strange creature noticed repeatedly in Okanogan lake, across the line in Canada, local residents and many adventurers are living along the shores watching daily for the expected appearance of Ogopogo, as Indians have designated the monster.

The sea serpent report emanating from the northern lake is not a fairy tale, for affidavits of well known people are on file at Vernon, B. C., to prove they observed Ogopogo, with its sheeplike head and long, serpentine body. From time to time there have been stories of a strange denizen of the lake, to which was attached a general incredulity. Some folks said nothing for fear of ridicule, but others having seen it compared notes found to possess common points.

Of the numerous eyewitnesses of the deep water creature J. L. Logie, a resident along the lake for 20 years, prepared a statement for a newspaper, describing his observation of Ogopogo. "On our way from Summerland, driving along the lake, we saw quite a ripple and a swell ahead of us, close to the shore, but the lake itself was perfectly calm. Driving about 25 miles an hour, we soon came abreast of the swell, when instantly a strange looking animal appeared, exposing about three feet of its body. The head looked very much like that of a sheep, but different from a seal, having a pointed nose. The body was dark, but no fins were above the water."

"As it swam a foot high swell was developed, showing the animal possessed weight and power. Diving suddenly, it again came to the surface 30 yards farther out. Hearing our voices, it then disappeared."

"In no story or picture have I ever read or seen anything like this. I am of the opinion there are several in the lake. Apparently they are getting more bold and expose themselves while playing or fighting."

Okanogan lake is 20 miles long and 7 miles wide, and is said to be very deep. There is room for large creatures to live without exposing themselves to man except on rare occasions.

One photographer declares he will stay the entire summer, that he may be the first to record the inland sea serpent.

Mothers Find New Helpers

Any child of school age is perfectly able to help with the ordinary household, such as sweeping and running the vacuum cleaner, dusting, washing dishes, making beds and assisting with the cooking. If any mother doubts this, let her select one of these tasks and assign it to seven-year-old son or daughter. To be sure, neither one may achieve perfection of effort, but they are employed in constructive labor and are learning to share responsibility.—Children, the Magazine for Parents.

Remember these

FACTS

when you trade-in your present car

YOU want full value for your present car, but most of all you want full new car value. It will therefore pay you to look beyond the trade-in offers and consider these basic facts:

- 1 Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 2 Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 3 The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your present car.

6 Remember that you are making a purchase—not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply using your present car as a credit against the new car's purchase price.

Chaplin Pays for Domestic Peace

Two Minutes in Court During Which His Wife Was Given a Divorce Decree—Probably Cost Actor in Excess of a Million Dollars.

Los Angeles, Aug. 23 (P).—Charlie Chaplin's price of domestic peace today provided a wealth of news for the conjecture and gossip of the movie-going and news-gathering worlds that know of the actor and his marital troubles.

Two minutes in court yesterday, in which the comedian's young wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, won in perpetuity an interlocutory decree of divorce, probably cost the actor in excess of a million dollars. According to the property settlement introduced at the outset of the hearing and which erased from the trial sensational charges concerning "prominent motion picture actresses," which spiced her divorce complaint, his wife will receive $25,000 of the million-dollar total.

The small sons placed in the custody of a trust fund of $100,000.

Other items included $10,000 as to Chaplin's expenses since the separation last November, $22,000 estimated receivers' fees, $60,000 to be paid for the Chaplin boys' support during the next five years while the trust fund is being provided, $1,000 in interest to Mrs. Chaplin for delayed payments, and the $4,000 already paid in temporary alimony.

There were miscellaneous items, well the total to $950,000, not counting the comedian's attorneys' fees and the cost of preparing for trial. Since out of the wife's $25,000 comes almost $100,000 of counsel is expected to receive less amount.

The million dollar prize paid by Chaplin for domestic freedom, does include the loss of a year's work on his unfinished picture, "The Circus," a factor that would run in huge sums in delayed receipts and production costs in gathering his cast together again.

Chaplin in Albany Hotel KNEW HIS BATS

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 23 (P).—When a bat invaded the dining room of the Hotel Hampton last night, men guests shrieked in fear. Others swung brooms at the tiny creature but failed to connect with it. "Turn out the lights," cried a man who knew his bats. The room was darkened, the bat flew through the lobby to the outside world. The lights were turned on again and the bat reigned once more.

City Authorities Will Rebuild Hall

city hall can't be beat architecturally," said Alderman DeGarmo. Alderman Fox of the Fifth ward said that the residents of his ward wanted the city hall restored. He had been all over the country and also in the Old World and had not seen a better looking building than the city hall, and every one who had seen it praised it.

There was no further discussion. Vote to Rebuild.

Alderman Moore introduced the following:

RESOLVED, that the council express to the commission its appreciation of the time and effort and consideration it has given to the matters referred to it, and for its well-considered report.

We appreciate the advantages to be had from the construction of a new building, as well expressed in the commission's report, but after due consideration of the financial situation of our city, the moneys required for other necessary improvements now under way, including our water supply system, and the fact that there is a very substantial salvage in the walls, foundations and floors of our present building, that can be used to good advantage, be it further.

RESOLVED, that in the judgment of the council, restoration is advisable, and that the chairman appoint a committee of three members of the council, of which committee the chairman shall be a member, to work in cooperation with the mayor to that end.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Polling Places Selected.

The aldermen then adjourned the special meeting and immediately re-adjourned in another special meeting to adopt the polling places for the November election.

There is only one change in the polling places from last year and that in the Third ward where the first district will vote in the water board barn adjoining the city hall. Instead of in the city hall. The second district will vote as usual in the Municipal Building.

The council then adjourned.

STORM WARNINGS FROM WILMINGTON TO BOSTON

Washington, Aug. 23 (P).—The tropical disturbance which began east of the Bahamas and north of Turks Island, is recurring to the northward and now is "of great intensity and attended by hurricane winds near its center," the Weather Bureau reported today. The center of the storm was given approximately as latitude 31½, longitude 73½. "It will cause dangerous wind off the coast from Cape Hatteras to Nantuxet," the Bureau warned. Storm warnings were displayed today on the Atlantic Coast from Wilmington, N. C., to Boston.

Sacco-Vanzetti Protest Innocence

tree, in 1926. Through seven long years of repeated efforts to save them, they had protested their innocence and maintained that it was their radical beliefs and activities which had brought upon them the "persecution" of the authorities.

Their conviction was obtained partly through direct evidence of eye witnesses, some of whom identified them, and partly through circumstantial evidence, in which a cap found at the murder scene was identified as Sacco's, and the fact that both were armed when arrested.

Known in Many Lands.

The shoe worker, Sacco, and the fish peddler, Vanzetti, soon became known in many lands as the defense committee organized and collected hundreds of thousands of dollars which were spent not only for legal talent to fight the case, but also for extensive propaganda.

Both bore fruit. Counsel succeeded counsel but the fight went on until eight motions for a new trial had been argued and the Massachusetts supreme court had three times been asked to pass upon exceptions. Even after sentence had been pronounced last April, there remained the review of the whole case conducted by Governor Alvan T. Fuller and his advisory committee, consisting of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, President Samuel W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Robert Grant, former probate judge.

Many Ask Mercy.

Meanwhile from many countries and from individuals of high and low estate, came protests that justice was being done or asking mercy. But there were also messages which demanded that the men pay the penalty for their crime.

Tell Wife and Sister.

Miss Luigia Vanzetti, sister of Bartolomeo, who came from his native village in Italy to be near him during the last few days, and Mrs. Rose Sacco, who has been constant in her attentions to her husband, spent the night at an apartment on Beacon Hill within two blocks of the state house. Three minutes after the last execution they were notified by telephone. Their cries aroused many of the neighborhood from sleep.

Defense Committee Takes Bodies.

The bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti were removed shortly after the execution to the northern mortuary where autopsies were performed by Dr. George B. Magrath, medical examiner. Later in the day they will be turned over to the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee. No announcement has yet been made of burial plans.

The body of Madeiros will be taken to New Bedford today for burial. Following the law of the state, the executions were witnessed by Warden Hendry of the state prison; Sheriff Samuel Capen of Norfolk county, in which the crime was committed; Dr. Magrath and Surgeon General F. P. Williams, official physicians; W. E. Playfair of the Associated Press, official representative of all the press; and Dr. Howard A. Lathrop and Dr. William Otis Faxon, as guests of the warden. All four physicians examined each man to make certain that the sentences had been executed.

Waiting in an improvised press room in a building in the prison yard, at the end of a telephone and telegraph relay from the death chamber, were more newspapermen than ever covered an execution before in Massachusetts. Foreign language papers as well as the English language press were represented.

No Demonstrations Near Prison.

Inside and out of the prison walls stood a small army of police, armed with a variety of weapons, ready for possible demonstrations which did not materialize. Two hours after the executions there was little to be seen to indicate that a drama had been enacted which had held the attention for a moment of the world. The lessened guards effaced themselves and the curious went home.

Man Killed When Airplane Crashes

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 23 (P).—Stanley Bruskiwicz, Philadelphia, died today in a hospital here from injuries sustained when a sight-seeing airplane, in which he was a passenger, crashed at Chipewa, last evening. The victim was married two weeks ago and was on his honeymoon. His bride saw the crash from an automobile. The plane was piloted by Fred Hartwick, Hamilton, Ont. It had been in the air but three minutes when it was seen to nose dive. It struck a fence and tree in its descent and was crushed. Parts of the plane had to be chopped away so Bruskiwicz could be extricated. Hartwick was seriously injured.

Excursion Enjoyed.

The Pocahontas Social Club's recent excursion to New York city was greatly enjoyed by all those making the trip. The club expects to hold a clam bake in the near future.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have been discriminated against by the use of the use of artificial stimulants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful of four tablets of Burroughs' Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomachs no longer trouble them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Burroughs' Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because the food which is obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, soothe the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Burroughs' Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Little Delay on Ellenville Road

According to Ellenville Fair officials and motorists who travel between Kingston and Ellenville conditions have so improved in traffic management that there is but little delay in traversing the section of highway which is under reconstruction.

There are only two stops now for motorists, who are regulated by flagmen stationed at the ends of the sections over which traffic can proceed in one direction only. Both stops are short and the entire delay due to reconstruction work, according to the motorists, is not over twenty minutes.

Ellenville Fair Opened Today

The Ulster County Agricultural Society's annual fair at Ellenville opened today and despite threatening conditions there was a good attendance for the first day of the fair.

Much time was spent by exhibitors in getting their exhibits in place, so that everything will be in readiness for the big crowd which is expected to be present on Wednesday, which is Ulster County Fair and Home Bureau Day. There will be barnyard golf, racing and several athletic attractions.

On Thursday there will be more racing, balloon ascensions and rough riding exhibitions by State Troopers.

On Friday the attractions will be automobile races, rough riding and many other interesting events.

Perry Arrested After Crash.

Sam Perry of Malden was released in $20 bail after he had been placed under arrest by Peter Greco of Saugerties and turned over to State Troopers Cashion and Nagle, Sunday night at Glasco. The arrest was made owing to a collision which occurred on the Glasco road where another thoroughfare turns off to the Schoenag Hotel. Broken fenders and bumpers marked the damage to the cars of both.

Prohibition Agents Make Large Haul

Herkimer, N. Y., Aug. 23 (P).—Prohibition officials, under the leadership of George W. Gay of the Albany forces, seized $30,000 in illicit distilling equipment in two separate hauls near here today.

At Nelliston the officers halted a motor truck on the highway and took from it a two-hundred gallon still, condensers, coils and boiler. The crew of the truck, Joseph Raiti of Johnstown and Nicholas Malo, who said he lived in Massachusetts, were arrested.

Proceeding to the Dinger Farm, six miles south of Frankfort, the raiders descended upon a barn and arrested Frank Sanzare and Leo Tuno, both of Utica, who were alleged to have been setting up an elaborate distilling plant. While two of the agents took the prisoners to Little Falls, the other officers hid in the barn and arrested six other members of the alleged moonshine band who appeared on the scene later.

Says Experts Must Meet Soon

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 23 (P).—A world conference of political experts and economists to consider means of avoiding disturbances to world trade and international currency relationships, must be called sooner or later, said Dr. Peter P. Reinhold, German minister of finance in former Chancellor Luther's cabinet, before the round table of the Institute of Politics, today.

The lever which may lift such a conference into being may very possibly be a snag in the transfer of German reparations payments, Dr. Reinhold believes.

"The question of transfer will in the future be extremely difficult and I believe that the authors of the Dawes plan were perfectly aware of these difficulties in the future, and therefore, made the determination that under contingent circumstances, the German payments should cease," he said.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAM-BONNER

THE DISCOVERY

Sam and Peter were at the end of their trip and were now digging for the buried treasure, or the gold that they had been told would be found around these parts.

What a lot of experiences they had had. How much more they knew now about the woods than they had ever before.

They wanted to know all about the woods, and about their own rocky coast, too.

"I think I'd like to be a guide or something," Peter reflected. "Somehow it seems as though the woods wanted to put us to that test and see if we could be beaten and how well we feel safe."

They started a fire to boil some water and to bake some bread they had picked up on the beach along the bay.

They had replenished their supply of food in the cave, and felt much stronger at the very thought of the good meal they would have.

"Maybe we waste too much time eating," Sam said, "but we couldn't do much if we felt weak and it makes me feel kind of weak always when I don't eat for quite awhile."

Again they ate. Again they dug.

"I can't quite see how people can go on digging for weeks and months for treasure," Peter said. His arms ached now.

"I'd like to take a whack at it every so often," Sam said. "It's all around these parts and to be found. All the history of the country and all the stories show that it must be."

"But I wouldn't want to do nothing else but dig. I think I'd like to come on it sort of haphazard like."

"That's what every one would like," Peter grinned.

"What's this?" Sam exclaimed.

"Oh, what?" Peter had felt it, too. They dug a little deeper and found an old chest, falling to pieces with age and decay.

"Let's sit down and look at it carefully," Sam said.

They took it off to one side and very carefully looked inside.

There were some old yellow papers—evidently they had been letters written long ago. The writing could not possibly be made out.

And there was an old daguerreotype and a locket and chain. That was all.

"It must mean that there is treasure somewhere around, even if this doesn't amount to much," Sam said as cheerfully as he could.

"That's what I'd say," Peter smiled a little.

Just then the sun shone on an object to the right of the chest.

It certainly could not have fallen out of the chest. It was some distance away.

"It's one of those medals!" cried Sam.

"I'd rather find one of those than anything," Peter shouted. "Yes, it's really, really true."

The boys had heard of these medals. There had been several found in this section of the world during the past hundred years and sold to museums.

But none had been found for a long time now. It had been made during the reign of Louis XV of France when he had ordered to have made in the French mint big silver medals to put around the neck of any Indian chief who showed special valor and nobility.

They had found one of them!

They had found something fine enough to be sold to a museum.

They would enjoy the doubts of the people who would listen to their story and then of their look of surprise as they saw the huge, old, dirty, but still grand-looking silver medal!

And they had almost missed it for it was not in the chest but to the right of it!

Digging for the Buried Treasure.

In a wrestling match between love and pride, love is always thrown.

Yet just a little while ago knees were clasped as prayer bones instead of scenery.

He—How old is your father?

A girl who can cook a plain meal, makes most of the garments she wears, spell ninety of every hundred common words, quote some standard poetry correctly, keep her face attractive and give a general outline of the four Gospels is sure to be popular in the city or country.

Every time he sends his girl a telegram, a certain traveling salesman puts it down in his expense book as "chicken wire."

A clerk who has been on a buying trip in New York wrote to the store bookkeeper back home:

She: "My ideal of a husband is one who can raise the dough in the hour of knead."

"How many times do you imagine he's kissed you?"
"So far I haven't had to imagine he's kissed me at all."

Heaven to a small boy is a place where he can make all the noise he wants to.

Mysterious.

"What makes you always so popular?"

He asked the speedy young spark. And she said with a grin. As she powdered her chin: "I keep all the boys in the dark."

Shrew Needs Much Food
Smithsonian Institution says that the shrew, for its size, eats a greater amount of concentrated foods than any other mammal. If deprived of food it will die of starvation within half a day.

Defining Parents
Little Alfred was asked to write a composition on parents, and wrote this:

"Parents are things which boys have to look after them. Most girls have parents. Parents consist of pas and mas. Pas talk a good deal about what they are going to do, and it's mostly the mas that make you mind."

Breaking Down Resistance

THE manufacturers of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco have experienced the results of some consistent, well planned advertising during the past ten years and resistance to the use of tobacco has been materially broken down. New markets have been created and older markets extended. Cigar smoking has decreased while the popularity of cigarette smoking has grown by leaps and bounds—But still those far sighted cigar manufacturers who have kept faith with their greatest selling force—advertising—have increased their output enormously while the general demand has declined.

Advertising has been responsible for the present day acceptance of tobacco, and newspaper advertising has played a most important role in bringing about the present enormous demand which is increasing daily.

A fisherman quite naturally searches for streams where there are fish and the successful angler is the one that finds the best places.

New York State has all the natural advantages that could possibly be imagined as a market for any manufacturer—in the area of 49,204 square miles live one-tenth of the nation's population and everyone is reachable through one medium with little or no duplication of cost—The Daily Newspaper.

Users of tobacco are daily buyers and the tastes and habits are influenced largely by the one thing they read every day—the newspaper that brings to them daily the intimate stories of local happenings.

The newspapers of New York State can do much to enhance the strategy of those manufacturers who would cast directly into the best fishing grounds—They are in close daily contact with the one vital element in all selling—The retailer.

We are prepared to offer any manufacturer an unbiased service that will be helpful in developing or extending this market. Ask this newspaper or write the Advertising Bureau, NEW YORK STATE PUBLISHERS, 709 Charlotte St., Utica, N. Y.

Pertinent Facts Regarding This State

In New York State there are 757 establishments engaged in the manufacture and sale of Tobacco, Cigars, Cigarettes and snuff. These employ 19,095 persons who are paid $19,173,951 annually and who produce products valued at approximately $66,410,888.

Legion Post Wants War Trophies

War material captured from the enemy by the American combat divisions during the World War has been received by Kingston Post of American Legion and is now on display. A German Maxim machine gun has been placed on the lawn of the American Legion Building, and a number of German sabres, trench guns, steel helmets, canteens, etc., are in the building. The post desires to build a trophy case for the building to hold these trophies which ex-servicemen may wish to place therein. All ex-servicemen having any American, French, German, fire arms or other equipment are asked to bring them to the Legion Building, topped with the name of the article and the donor. American gas masks, helmets, etc., are wanted, as well as other articles. The entire collection will be exhibited to the public soon and every man is asked to get the articles to the Legion building not later than Friday night at 8 p. m.

Three Kicks in a Dollar

According to a leading resident of Kingston, Kan., who presented a kick to that town recently, there are three kicks in every dollar. The first of these is when one makes the dollar, the second, when he has to be served before he has it. The third, when he must save it to keep it. And the third and biggest kick of all in which it is given away. The construction of philanthropy is, in part, constructed of this last principle.

Greatest Mistake Is Losing Time

One Can't Afford to Spend Ten Dollars Worth of Time Repairing Old Machine That Is Not Worth Ten Dollars After the Job Is Done.

Itasca, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—The time of most farmers should be valued at from one-half cent to one cent a minute, in the opinion of Dr. G. F. Warren, director of the farm management department of the New York State College of Agriculture.

"Probably no other single mistake on the part of Americans, and especially American farmers," asserts Dr. Warren, "causes so much loss as does loss of time."

"Americans are thrifty by being in a hurry for they must save time, while Europeans are thrifty by taking great pains with everything they do and by saving things or goods."

"In Europe there are so many people in proportion to natural resources that thrift means the saving of goods. The American who visits northern Europe is impressed with how carefully they work every patch of land; how carefully they save wood; with the quantity of milk each cow produces and with the number of cows kept on an acre. These observations furnish the basis of innumerable speeches on 'What is the matter with American farmers?' A favorite theme is how some immigrants made a fortune farming the fence corners that the short-sighted Americans neglect. Many immigrants do this, it is true, before they learn better."

Some farmers now spend a dollar's worth of time saving a half dollar's worth of goods, Dr. Warren believes.

"Because of the rapid change, during and since the war, in the relative values of labor and things, probably no single mistake causes so much loss in America as does the loss of time. One can't afford to spend ten dollars worth of time repairing an old machine that is not worth ten dollars after the job is done."

"If a farmer has all the work he can do in the haying season it does not pay to take the scatterings in the hay fields. He had better cut a neighbor's field on shares."

"Orderliness is one of the best means of saving labor. Many farmers waste both labor and things by leaving the farm in disorder."

"They criticize us for always being in a hurry but being in a hurry is the result of being thrifty with time."

Besides her husband she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown, two brothers, Howard and Albert Brown, Jr., and eight sisters, Mrs. Lydia Tighe and Helen, Hazel, Catherine, Mildred, Stella, Jennie and Beatrice Brown. The funeral took place this afternoon, the Rev. J. Elmer Cates, pastor of the Saugerties M. E. Church, officiating. Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties.

Mrs. Mary Gannon, widow of Thomas Gannon, of West Bridge street, Saugerties, was found dead in bed at her home about 1 p. m. Monday by Miss Marie Tracey who resides in the same house. After several attempts throughout the day to get Mrs. Gannon to respond to calls Miss Tracey became alarmed and an entrance through the roof was made to the apartment of Mrs. Gannon who was found in a position which indicated that she evidently suffered a heart attack. According to neighbors Mrs. Gannon had been apparently well Sunday and had attended a wedding in the Trinity Church in the afternoon. She was 62 years old.

Sarah Frances Newman, widow of the late Hon. C. Meach Woolsey, who died at her home on Sands avenue, Milton, Saturday, August 20, after a protracted illness, was born at Newburyport, Mass., July 12, 1851. She was the daughter of John and Adeline Newman, who subsequently moved to Milton, where her marriage took place in 1873. Six children were born, four of whom survive, Frederick W., Mrs. Sarah F. Hoag of Poughkeepsie, David W. and Ida Florence; also five grandchildren. Mrs. Robert J. Hyatt, Washington, D. C.; Frederick C. Ida Florence, Sarah Frances and Gloria Meach Woolsey. As a loving wife and devoted mother Mrs. Woolsey led an exemplary life and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends who admired her splendid qualities and was honored by her friendship. She was a consistent and faithful member of the Presbyterian Church, which she generously supported in all its lines of service. Her family has the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Henry E. Wilke, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, German town, Pa., a former pastor of the Milton church, at her late home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The remains were interred in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

McIntire Returns From Trip

Dwight McIntire and family of Orchard street and Ward Brigham and family of Lindemann avenue have returned from a thousand mile auto trip over the Ideal Tour, covering each of the six New England states. They went through the Berkshires in Massachusetts, the Green Mountains in Vermont, the White Mountains in New Hampshire, through Brother Woods and Poland Springs to Portland and down the coast to Boston and then out to the end of Cape Cod and back to Kingston by way of Providence and Hartford. This is one of the most famous scenic routes in the eastern states and covers also many points of historic interest. The party report wonderful roads on the entire trip.

Sport of Bowling

Bowling on alleys seems to have been derived from the old game of skittles, which is now probably developed from the still older game of bowls. It has its greatest vogue in the United States, where its popularity has increased very rapidly, especially since the latter part of the last century. The first record of a game in America was on January 1, 1590, in New York city.

West Shore Wins
Over Apollo Club

West Shore Railroad club won a three-run rally in the last of their game with the Apollo Monday evening at the Athletic field which enabled them to win. The rally broke a 1-1 tie. The Apollo-Universal also won a rally but fell short by one.

Williams was the hero of the game with one run in and the tying runs on the bags with out in the last inning he was in to relieve Bush who could not face him. He walked the batter to face him, forcing in a run, but then took control of the game, striking out one batter and the next two pop out. Bush gave ten free hits during his stay.

The Railroaders scored the first run in the third inning. Schultz hit first on Jordan's error, and to third on passed balls and on Hyatt's error.

A walk, an error and a single put Apollo-Universal on even terms. The Railroaders in the fourth inning a trio of singles by Bush, A. Glaser and Bruck and a walk and the Railroaders three runs in the fifth.

Bush took care of the pitcher in fine style until the last of the game when he was picked for three hits. The score:

Tagging Major
League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

Day by day the pennant race in the National League is getting tighter and tighter.

The Boston Braves, notorious hope wreckers of championship aspirants, yesterday drubbed the pace-setting Chicago Cubs for the third time in succession, and while the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates were idle, the St. Louis Cardinals were pulling up to within one game of second place.

The Cubs had a lead of only two and one half games today and a few more reverses would throw the first division situation into a jumble that might not be straightened out until the very last games of the season. Yesterday the usually reliable Cub defense cracked right at the crucial moment. Three errors were committed in rapid succession and were followed by a trio of clean hits. Boston came out on top of a 5-3 score. Ed Brown, Boston outfielder, set a National League record when he played in his 534th successive game.

Chick Hafey's home run in the second inning was the only score made in the St. Louis-Philadelphia contest. Ulrich and Haines hooked up in a pitchers' battle, and Haines won his twelfth victory of the season. He has been defeated only seven times.

The Giants and Brooklyn were enjoying a baseball vacation that is to last four days. The Cincinnati Reds likewise were idle.

The Cleveland Indians made it three in a row by trimming the New York Yanks, 9-4. Babe Ruth slugged his 40th home run of the year and became one up on Gehrig, who went hitless.

It was the first time this year any team had made a clean sweep of a series against the Yanks.

The Detroit Tigers, meanwhile, ran their winning streak to 13 games. Moriarity's aggregation won both ends of a double-header from Washington and took a strong grip on second place in the standing. Scores were 4-2, and 7-3. Heilmann and McManus hit home runs off Walter Johnson in the second game.

Ted Lyons pitched masterful ball against Philadelphia and the Chicago White Sox trimmed the Mackmen, 6-3. Lyons eased up in the eighth, but otherwise was in complete control in the pinches. Ty Cobb was the hitting star with two doubles, a single and a walk in four trips to the plate.

The Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns were idle.

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE ROPED ARENA LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, defeated Bobby Garcia, Baltimore, 10.

Holbrook, Mass.—Pete Zivic Pittsburgh, defeated Tony Carney, New Bedford, 10. Eddie Elkins, New Bedford, defeated Phil Goldstein, Pittsburgh, 10.

Troy—Johnny Reiser, New York, vs. Sig Keppen, Beaver Falls, Pa., called no contest. Joe Schlocker, California, knocked out Joe Jossino, Texas, 1.

The Reds are said to be active among the yellow races, which gives them that fiery tinge.

The modern's objection to a gold strike is that it always seems to be made on some detour.

Pity the poor lobbyist, who hasn't anything to do these days except argue up his expense account.

Advice isn't the only thing that goes in at one ear and out at the other: There's the corn borer.

Dempsey Shadow
Boxes at Chicago

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—Manassa, Colorado's pride, the slashing, strapping former heavyweight champion of the world, Jack Dempsey, planned only to box gingerly with his shadow and punch unoffending bags today at his Lincoln Field's training camp. It was his first local venture of preparation for his Soldier Field stadium engagement with Gene Tunney, September 22.

The race course at Lincoln Fields, Dempsey said, makes one of the best training camps he has ever seen. He visited every nook and corner on the million dollar site in a two mile jaunt last night.

At virtually the same time the ticket sale for what Tex Rickard says is the fight spectacle of the ages was started, with more than 7,000 of them going into the hands of receivers during the first few hours.

The police began a task of their own as the fight machinery began to grind, declaring their intentions of keeping the title bout entirely free from "hoodlum" disorders by preventing any known gangsters from obtaining tickets or entering the Soldier Field stadium, scene of the conflict.

Jack weighs about 203 pounds now, Trainer Gus Wilson said, and expects to go into the ring against Tunney a month hence weighing around 195.

Ticket prices ranged from $5 to $40, and no restrictions were placed on the number one might purchase. Several blocks of twenty were handed out, and these buyers were asked to show business cards but nothing more.

Two New York Golfers, 10 Years Old, Head the Field as They Start Second Qualifying Round of Amateur Tournament at Minneapolis

—One Has a 71 and the Other 72—
—Jones Has 75—Von Elm Has 79.

Minneapolis, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two 19 year old New York youths, fast friends, today topped champions and former champions as they started the second qualifying round of the National Amateur Golf championship tournament over the Minikahda club course.

Foremost was Eugene Homans, who came in at dusk from the first round with a 37—34—71, to bowl over the hopes for premier honors of his golfing mate, Phillips Finlay, who tallies 36—36—72. Farley is 36—37—72. Just one stroke behind was Don Carrick of Toronto, Canadian champion for the second time in three years, although only 20 years old.

And then came some of the world's most famous proponents of the game. Chief among these was Bobby Jones of Atlanta, who lost the title last year at Buxton to George Von Elm of Los Angeles. The British open champion took 75 and deserved a larger score. He said, Von Elm took a large 79, pulling and slicing, as did Jones, but not recovering so well.

Ahead of Jones, with whom were tied Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet, Guy Standifer of Washington, Raymond Daly of Chicago, and Jack Mackie, another youthful New Yorker, with a score of 74 each, were Jimmy Johnston, of the Home Club, Max Marston, formerly title holder, Art Sweet of Chicago, who shot the first six holes in one over 3's, Clarke Corkran of Philadelphia, and George Rotan of Houston.

There were 34 contestants with scores of 77 or better, indicating that the 32-qualifiers would need to total close to 154 to survive.

Y.M.C.A. Defeats
Napanoch Club

The local Y. M. C. A. team defeated Napanoch Saturday in a ten inning contest, 7-4. The locals played in the best of form and only one error was charged to the side. Kennedy did the hurling for the "Y" team and sent seven of the men who faced him to the showers. He allowed one pass. But nine hits were chalked up against the local hurler.

Chet Fox did considerable stalling when he subbed for Smith with the willow. Fox registered a two bagger with two men on the sacks.

Heins who pitched for the Napanoch aggregation allowed the "Y" players nine hits and they effectively bunched the blows. Five of Captain Kennedy's men were fanned and two got free trips to first sack. Dorightly, first sacker for the Napanoch nine, registered the only circuit clout of the game.

Gridder Keeps Fit in Summer

Young Corbett First to Use Psychology in Ring

Old-timers credit "Young Corbett," who died suddenly a few weeks ago, with having been the first to use "psychology" in the ring.

Corbett employed it to beat "Terrible Terry" McGovern for the featherweight title in Hartford, Conn., in 1901.

Terry, sitting in his dressing room before the match, heard a pounding on the door and heard Corbett shout: "Hey, come out and take your licking now. Come on and get your head knocked off."

McGovern entered the ring so angry that the cool Corbett flattened him in less than two rounds.

Corbett's real name was William Rothwell.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—Mixed price movements came into the stock market for a while today, after an early resumption of the upward trend in which about 30 stocks, including some of the dividend paying railroads, reached their best prices of the year. For a time various stocks in different groups advanced and declined simultaneously, until the weight of heavy offerings in the oil section ultimately bore down on the balance of the list.

Selling of the oils was attributed to fears that the ten cent cut in Pennsylvania crude would spread to other fields, and to liquidation of Pan-American on misgivings over the retaining of the current six per cent dividend rate. Pan-American B went down 4 1/2 points and losses of 2 to 2 1/2 were sustained by Houston Oil, Atlantic Refining and General Asphalt.

Active realizing in General Motors, a four point drop in Pierce Arrow preferred, and losses of three points in Woolworth and Remington Rand also served to disconcert the bullish element for a time but the readiness with which investment shares were taken on the reaction, especially Union Pacific, in the face of an $800,000 falling off in July net operating income, caused the list to harden again in the early afternoon, when a number of specialties moved up to new peak prices.

Private Washington dispatches quoted Secretary Hoover as saying that indications are very fair for good business throughout the country during the rest of 1927 and that, taken by and large, conditions so far this year have not varied much from 1926.

Sacco Protests Not So Serious

by a Socialist newspaper when word of the execution was received, but the crowd dispersed quietly. In Boston crowds that filled the streets before the downtown bulletin boards of two newspapers, received word of the executions in silence.

Police Were Vigilant.

Reports from many cities told of a day of unrelenting watchfulness with public and semi-public buildings, transportation and public service facilities throughout the country under heavy guard.

They told for the most part of strikes, calls that received little response, of mass meetings, animated but orderly, which were dispersed in the main without trouble. Although a state trooper was shot and killed in Acquetonia, Pa., and more than one hundred Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers were arrested in a half-dozen cities.

N. Y. Under Armed Guard.

The day here passed quietly, though New York was virtually under an armed guard. The entire force of 12,000 police was on duty and six companies of infantry and two machine companies, with war-time ammunition issuance, were held in reserve on Governor's Island.

An afternoon meeting at Union Square brought a crowd of 20,000. Towards the close of the rally, the police interrupted demonstrations as they proceeded to disperse the gathering.

The protest strike call of the Workers' (Communist) Party was answered by only a few thousand workers, police said, among which were three locals of the International Fur Workers' Union.

Fuller at Summer Home.

Boston, Aug. 23 (AP)—Gov. Alvan T. Fuller was resting today at his summer home at Rye Beach, N. H., where he went after an exhausting, protracted session at his office in the State House yesterday, hearing last minute appeals in behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti. He was not expected at the State House today.

His office force, which remained on duty with him last night, was back to pick up the routine of the Commonwealth's business after one of the most hectic periods the executive department has ever experienced.

The state police patrol, which had been concentrated in Boston last night to guard against demonstration, today was returning to barracks scattered throughout the state. They have had nothing to contend with.

Will Prohibit Demonstrations.

Paris, Aug. 23 (AP)—The authorities decided to prohibit Sacco-Vanzetti manifestations in front of the American Embassy planned for tonight by Communist organizations. Plans for the manifestations went on, however, the committee at the same time urging its followers to abstain from all violence and provocative acts and advising them not to carry any sort of arms.

Another bit of advice from the committee was against wearing caps, the leaders of the Communists arguing that the police, imbued with the idea that caps were part of the uniform of "rough necks" would quickly arrest cap-wearers, while those in more conventional hats might escape.

Legionnaires Active.

American Legion headquarters showed its usual activity this morning, despite the action of the Communist organ L'Humanite in urging "defiance" of the Legion convention because of the Sacco-Vanzetti executions.

Legion officials were as busy as they have been since the headquarters was opened in "American House" preparing for the convention parade, while a half dozen policemen, discreetly stationed, across the way, scrutinized all callers.

Explosion in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 23 (AP)—The explosion of a bomb in the doorway of the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic Church here early today shattered windows in the structure and in nearby buildings. No serious damage resulted and none was injured.

Police attributed the placing of the bomb to Sacco and Vanzetti sympathizers, but priests at the rectory said they were unable to give any reason.

MT. TREMPER.

Mr. Tremper, Aug. 23.—A chicken supper will be served to the public on Wednesday, August 24, at 6 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Will Transport Sacco-Vanzetti Bodies to Cities

Defense Committee Announces They Will Take Bodies to Eastern Cities in Specially Constructed Caskets—Body of Madeiros Taken to New Bedford.

Boston, Aug. 23 (AP)—The bodies of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are to be taken in specially constructed caskets through the cities of the east, the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee announced today.

First they are to lie in state at the committee headquarters in this city. When this will be, the committee was unable to say as they had not been informed when the bodies would be turned over to them by Medical Examiner Magrath.

The visits to various cities might extend as far as Chicago, it was added.

The body of Celestino Madeiros, who was executed with them at the state prison early today, will be delivered to a New Bedford undertaker. This is at the request of his mother.

The Charleston district and all other parts of Boston were quiet today. An echo of the last minute demonstrations in sympathy with Sacco and Vanzetti came with the arraignment in the municipal court of pickets arrested in front of the state house.

Mrs. Glendower Evans, who has been active in the Sacco-Vanzetti defense, said that death masks would be made of both men and many copies distributed. She visited the Northern Mortuary, where the bodies were taken from the state prison, but Medical Examiner Magrath said he was too busy at that hour to admit her or her companion, William Cropper, a New York artist.

Five Injured in Rosendale Crash

A head-on collision of automobiles on Main street, Rosendale, occurred this morning at 10:30 o'clock when a Ford truck, owned and driven by Eugene Yonett of Bijnewater, and a Ford touring car, owned and driven by Grant Mertine of Tillson, came together. Both cars were wrecked and five people injured. Yonett and Mertine, the drivers of the cars, were cut and bruised. Henry Yonett, Jesse Baines and Robert Lobdell were also cut and bruised and were brought to the Kingston City Hospital where their wounds were dressed and they later left for their homes.

Hoover Optimistic About Prosperity

Commerce Secretary Says That on Basis of Reports Made to Him Outlook for Continued Prosperity During Next Five or Six Months is Fair.

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—A summary of business conditions in the United States as presented to Secretary Hoover by Commerce Department studies has convinced him, he said today, that the outlook for American prosperity during the next five or six months is "very fair."

"Of course economic prosperity is always hedged about with doubt and difficulty," Mr. Hoover said. "But notwithstanding, the outlook for the nation's business for the next five or six months is very fair."

"I have had presented to me today a series of figures dealing with conditions during the first seven months of 1927," he continued. "In construction matters the accomplishment has been about two or three per cent greater than during the same period of 1926; the country's exports have been five per cent more than during the same period of 1926; the freight carriage on American railroads so far this year has been almost the same as last."

"There has been a good deal of variation in industry. Pig iron production has so far been two per cent below that of 1926, and textile and automobile production is also less. In general there has been a slight decline in factory employment, amounting to about 2 per cent during July under July, 1926."

"However, in the employment matter, there has been a steady increase in the number of workers demanded by services as compared with factories, and there is not so much regular reporting as to the volume of employment in the service category. We know, for instance, that the development of automotive transport has brought about an immense increase during recent years in the number of persons employed in garage operation and repairs."

"Money rates are now low and the effect of cheap money on enterprise is almost invariably a tendency towards stimulation. The harvest in the grain country is passing through a somewhat critical period at the moment, especially with reference to corn, but if frost is delayed for a matter of ten days or so over the corn growing area there will be a bountiful crop. On the whole, outlook is for a maintenance of general buying power."

True Sincerity

I should say sincerity, a deep, great, genuine sincerity, is the first characteristic of all men in any way heroic. Not the sincerity that calls itself sincere; ah, no! that is a very poor matter indeed: a shallow, bragging, conscious sincerity; often self-conceit mainly. The great man's sincerity is of the kind he cannot speak of, is not conscious of—Edward Everett Hale.

Watchdog Helps Save the Palace

Genoa, Aug. 23 (AP)—The League of Nations watchdog, whose upkeep figures on the League budget, is credited with a leading part in saving the League palace from being burned by a gang participating in last night's Sacco-Vanzetti riots.

The rioters stoned and demolished the great windows of the famous class room, scene of many international conferences and meeting place of the League council. Then they attempted to force their way in, indicating their intention of setting the building on fire.

Two night watchmen with the dog, an Alsatian, offered stiff resistance and the invaders were forced to retreat, with torn clothes and bleeding hands.

Two Men Killed Near Watertown

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP).—Howard Jessmore and Alexander Moore, two local young men, were killed about one o'clock this morning when a car owned by Thomas O'Neill, also of this city, turned over on the county road being used as a detour between this city and Cap Vincent. O'Neill, who was also in the car, was not injured. Moore who was driving the car, was unable to make a sharp turn and the machine ran into a ditch and turned over. The two men were killed instantly.

The Florida lad who drove a car through a fruit store window, injuring two people, is under observation for sanity. Undoubtedly he is plain crazy.

The present period is one of readjustment. An assassination rumor has the same effect in the plan for world harmony that static has in radio.

If all reports are true concerning sums spent for propaganda, the influx of money may account to some extent for this country's extraordinary prosperity.

It used to be that the first young man in the village to bring out a new style was envied. This would hardly be true of the daring avant-courier in a bright derby hat.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press.)
New York—Mrs. Luba Phillips, who hopes to do a Lindbergh and fly the Atlantic alone, considers aviation a great field for women. She is ambitious to dispense a statement she read credited to a noted aviator's wife that "women have not the brains or stability to become fliers."

Le Bourget—Miss Mabel Holl desires to buy the transatlantic plane Columbia from Mr. Levine. She has gone up in it as a passenger with M. Drouhin piloting.

New York—Mrs. Margaret Wintringham, M. P. is here to study prohibition. "There is $300,000,000 a year spent on liquor in England," she said. "I believe that money could be put to much better purposes."

Shanghai—Said Chang Tso-Lin, head of the Peking government, to Senator Bingham of Connecticut: "If you Westerners are so foolish about your women, I will not execute her, just that's what she deserves." That was Chang's answer to the senator's plea that Mme. Michael Borodin, wife of the Soviet adviser to the Hankow government, be spared. The senator argued that the execution would make the West regard Chang as a beast and a barbarian.

New York—Helen McCormick, formerly assistant county district attorney in Brooklyn, presumably will try some of the advice she has given other women. Often in an official capacity, she urged wives to avoid arguments, to dress neatly at breakfast and to let their husbands rest in the evening instead of dragging them out. Now she is married herself. Her husband is Patrick O'Toole, owner of a chain of grocery stores. She remains Helen McCormick professionally.

Retort Courteous
C. Lewis Hind, in his book, "Naph-tal"—the story of his adventures while earning a living by writing—tells of his first meeting with Amy Lowell, the New England poet. He attended a literary supper in New York and sat next to a "rather large, formidable woman with an assured smile and no apology for being late"—she had arrived half an hour after supper had been served. "She took the seat next to mine and at once usurped the conversation readily and animatedly. I listened with delight and wondered who she might be. I began to put questions to her, mainly about poetry, which she answered slightly, with half her intelligence. After a rebuff more pointed, I said suddenly: "I believe you are Miss Amy Lowell!" "She flashed her handsome eyes upon me and said: "Who the h—l did you think I was?"

Experiments
A live fish was produced by placing a fish egg under a powerful ultraviolet ray for five to ten minutes. Thus life was made without the male sperm. The eggs of the sea urchin were placed under the rays of the machine and the eggs became swimming fish larvae. The male was eliminated entirely. The identical experiment was performed on a starfish and other low forms of animal life. Peculiar deformities were produced by placing the embryo chicken under the radiation. The resulting chick grew to have one eye, and a heart broken up into several pieces, each of which pulsed independently of its fellows.

The Prodigal Scotch
The old superstition that "every time a 'taxpence' bangs a Scotsman's heart breaks" has been exploded at Inverness. At the bottom of the Wishing well, of whose waters natives sip, breathing a wish and thereafter dropping in a coin, twenty whole guineas have been found this year, besides no end of half crowns and shillings. This is held to be significant, and a refutation of the idea that the Scot is inclined to be tight-fisted. For "wishing waters" are generally supposed to answer the prayers of their devotees quite effectively.—New York Times.
